Island, directly through the location of the skating pond of last winter, has deprived the lovers of the ice-field of the facilities offered for skating, and now the question arises "shall we have another skating pond this winter?" The question is not one of extravagant outlay, for it is more than probable that a pond or park of sufficient size could made to pay the expenses necessary in its construction. There is no difficalty in finding people who will be glad to patronize such an institution, but what is most needed is the action of prompt and enterprising parties to undertake the building of a pond. Two locations the building of a pond. Two locations are suggested, one on Wheeling Island, and the other on Caldwell's run, east of Jacob street. The former is probably the preferable site, as the low ground in the vicinity of Caldwell's run, at the point mentioned, is hardly level enough for the purpose.
